

THE DUBLIN REVIEW.

94

THIRD SERIES.

VOL. XI

JANUARY—APRIL.

MDCCCLXXXIV.

PUBLIC LIBRARY,

DETROIT, MICH.

SEP 17 1888

LONDON: BURNS & OATES.

DUBLIN: M. H. GILL & SON.

BALTIMORE: JOHN B. PIET.

—
1884.

Ballantyne Press
BALLANTYNE, HANSON AND CO., EDINBURGH
CHANDOS STREET, LONDON

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—SECULAR EDUCATION	PAGE 1
Growth of Governmental measures for elementary education and disregard of Catholic claims—Right of school inspection extended to control of subjects taught—Not safe to trust any Government with education—Claim of State to right of educating, equal to slavery ; evil results consequent on its exercise—Arguments for State interference ; and replies.
ART. II.—WYCLIFFE AND HIS TEACHING CONCERNING THE PRIMACY.	23
Common hatred of heretics for authority—Duty of Christians towards sins of those in authority—Was Wycliffe a Protestant ?—Certain Papal claims and dispositions of Church property had long been unpopular in England in Wycliffe's time—Wycliffe turns this circumstance to account ; his false theory of dominion—An examination of some of his writings which enforced his views that the spiritual power had no direct claim on temporalities—He attacks the Pope's Bulls—Election of an Anti-Pope favourable to Wycliffe's errors—He still acknowledges the Pope's authority—His doctrines condemned ; he withdraws from Oxford ; writes the "Trialogus"—He never held the Bible to be the Rule of Faith—Reconciliation of his contradictory statements regarding the Primacy—His last writings—Distinction laid down by Luther between Wycliffe and the Reformers.
ART. III.—LIBERTY, LAISSER-FAIRE, AND LEGISLATION . . .	62
Liberty no longer the watchword of Democrats—Doctrine of "liberty" and "laisser-faire" dormant, not dead ; signs

of awakening—Instances quoted of Governmental interference with liberty; this inconsistently denounced in the abstract and called for in concrete cases—Uses and various meanings of word “liberty”—No special meaning solves political and economic difficulties—The demand for “freedom of contract” used for a purpose—Principles on which society is based not explained by any natural law of liberty.

ART. IV.—ALEXANDER FARNESE 81

Loyalty of Farnese to Philip II.—Contrast between him and Don John; their close friendship—Farnese, after death of his wife, joins Don John in Netherlands—Death of Don John; Farnese succeeds him; his successes—He strongly objects to Philip’s ban against Orange—Farnese’s loyalty and Philip’s persistent suspicions—His attitude towards the Armada—His devotion unto death.

ART. V.—THE COPTS 93

Recent expressions of interest in the Copts—Sketch of Egyptian Church history to Council of Chalcedon—Chalcedon to the Mahommedan conquest: a time of strife—Mahommedan persecutions of the Native Christians—The Copt of to-day; his social status and intelligence—Rome respects the Coptic rite—The Coptic Mass—Their belief in the Real Presence; in seven Sacraments—Peculiarities in regard to Extreme Unction—Their Lents and Fasts—Celibacy of their Monks and Bishops—Franciscan and Jesuit educational efforts—Their Monks and Monasteries.

ART. VI.—MADAGASCAR, PAST AND PRESENT. 117

Geographical details—The flora and fauna of the island—The discovery of Madagascar in 1506—French occupation—The island becomes the abode of pirates—The native races—English colonies—Captain Le Sage’s embassy to King Radama I.—English missionaries permitted to establish themselves—Queen Ranavàlona; her ferocious disposition—Her love of her son—Europeans expelled by the Queen and Christians persecuted—Accession of King Radama II. ; his letter to the Pope—His mistakes and murder—M. Lambert and French claims—Queen Rasohérina baptized and encourages Christianity—Constitutional balance nicely adjusted—Food, drink, dwellings of the Malagasy—Their language and customs—Their many superstitions—Toleration of Catholicity : its progress—Present political crisis.

ART. VII.—THE CITY OF OUR MARTYRS 149

The geographical and physical situation of the town of Douai—Its connection with England and our English martyrs the reason of this sketch—The early history of Douai—Its saints—St. Adalbald—St. Rictude—St. Maurand—St. Amé—Douai under the Counts of Flanders—Its ecclesiastical and material growth—Its trade and commerce—Its connection with England in the Middle Ages—Its social position in the 14th century—Its decay under the Dukes of Burgundy (A.D. 1384–1529)—The Spanish rule (A.D. 1529–1667)—The University of Douai—The town's scholastic life—The French possession—The town's military character developed—Bird's-eye view of Douai previous to the French Revolution.

ART. VIII.—NEW TESTAMENT VATICANISM 196

The new Vaticanism English ; meaning of the term—Large acceptance of this extravagant opinion—In differences between manuscripts, who is to decide ?—History of the Vatican manuscript : its recent publication—The Sinaitic Codex—The writer of the one, one of the four scribes of the other : among those which Eusebius prepared for Constantine—The value of Eusebius's authority : Arian opinions prevalent—Difficulties raised by the New Testament Revisers.

SCIENCE NOTICES 218

Professor Henrici on Mathematical Teaching—The Imperfections of Euclid—Electrical Progress—Prehistoric

Footprints—The Persistency of Animalcules—Science and Religion.	PAGE
NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS	222
Katholik —Historisch-politische Blätter—Jahrbuch der Görres-Gesellschaft—Stimmen aus Maria Laach—La Civiltà Cattolica—Œuvre des Ecoles d'Orient—La Controverse.
NOTICES OF BOOKS	218
Cardinal Manning's Eternal Priesthood —Dr. A. Belle- sheim's Church History of Scotland —Canon Doyle's Principles of Religious Life —Abbé Le Camus's Vie de Jesus-Christ —Brownhill's Principles of English Canon Law —Palmer's Narrative of Publication of Tracts for the Times —Dr. C. Germanus's Reformers and Luther —Cochin's Espérances Chrétiennes —La Marquise de Forbin d'Oppède's Delphine de Sabran — Father Mackey's Four Essays on St. Francis de Sales — The Parochial Hymn Book —Rev. E. MacCartan's Reminiscences of Rome —Tickel's Privilegium Otto I. —Devas's Groundwork of Economics —Stock's Attempts at Truth —Schopenhauer's World, or Will and Idea — Barry O'Brien's Fifty Years of Concession to Ireland — Forster's Law of Compensation under Agricultural Holdings Act —Merry England.
LIST OF BOOKS RECEIVED	244

CONTENTS.

ART. I.—DREIZEHNLINDEN	PAGE 245
----------------------------------	-------------

Frederick William Weber's youth in Saxony—He practises as a physician at Driburg and Lippspringe; writes occasional poems—The publication of "Dreizehnlinden" late in life makes him famous—Theme and outline of the poem: its epic character and general interest—The poet's contrast of the modern spirit with that of Catholic and monastic life in the past.

ART. II.—FROM LOGIC TO GOD	273
--------------------------------------	-----

The two wholes,—the logical whole or that of extension, and the metaphysical whole, or that of comprehension,—considered first from a conceptual, then from a metaphysical, point of view—In five different respects a philosophical antithesis between the two—Sir William Hamilton's additions to Logic tested by this antithesis—The genesis and objective value of these two wholes—Is the synthesis of the two possible? Conceptually and philosophically impossible; yet somehow possible, because the human intellect yearns for unity of science—The synthesis is theologically possible, because it exists objectively in God—In pantheistic forms of theology, no true synthesis; because one or other of the two wholes is suppressed—In Christian theology, the synthesis is objectively complete.

ART. III.—LIFE OF ST. OLAF	307
--------------------------------------	-----

Antiquity and historical value of the "Passio" recently edited by Mr. Metcalfe—Great excellence of his editorial work: a reservation as regards his judgment on the Saint's character—A perplexing event in the Saint's life: an explanation offered—Mr. Hallam reckons saints' lives tedious: counter-statement illustrated from the "Passio" of St. Olaf.

ART. IV.—ADRIAN IV. AND IRELAND 316

The writer dissents from the view put forth in the "Analecta Juris Pontificii" and maintained in a previous article in this Review—Inherent probabilities of the long-accepted story of a Papal grant to Henry—Real state of Ireland in the twelfth century—The "Analecta's" objections to the grant of Adrian answered: interpolation in John of Salisbury's treatise: supposed Papal letter of refusal—Detailed reply to the seven reasons brought forward for denying that the letter of refusal applies to Spain.

ART. V.—THE EXPERIMENT OF FRANCE 344

Purpose of this article is to survey the condition and apparent prospects of public affairs in France and to consider the lesson thence derivable—Radical character of the Republic: growing deterioration of artisan and rural voters—Character of the Chamber of Deputies—Nothing left anywhere, even in the Army, to prevent the social dissolution desired by the Irreconcilables—Present state of affairs is the outcome and continuation of "The Revolution"—The social basis before the Revolution; attempted substitution of new foundation; social-geometric method adopted by the Revolutionists: their principle the sovereignty of the individual—Position of English people towards the democratic movement.

ART. VI.—CHRISTENDOM IN IDEAL AND IN FACT 366

Similar aim of St. Augustine's "De Civitate Dei" and Mr. Allie's "Formation of Christendom:" application of Christian philosophy to history—A glance at the work done by Mr. Allie's book: his study of heathen man and the Christian method of regenerating him—

The task of regeneration too great for any but the Church of God—The new method of education introduced by the Church: assaults of heresy and false philosophy—Failure of Pagan philosophy—Mr. Allie's work one of positive controversy, setting forth the truth and results produced in the world by the kingdom of truth—His study of "Church and State" shows divine origin of power—Hope that he may be enabled to complete his great undertaking.

ART. VII.—THE REVOLUTION IN THE SOUDAN 392

Former and present Mahdis—Question of Soudan mainly one of communications: difficulties of routes—Climate and obstacle to foreign occupation of the Soudan—
Character of its soil and inhabitants—General Gordon's popularity in the Soudan, his past work there—Zebehr
Rahama and the slave trade crushed by General Gordon—The Catholic Missionaries of Kordofan: their detention and treatment by the Mahdi—The future of the Soudan.

ART. VIII.—THE DWELLINGS OF THE POOR 414

Difference between the Christian and the social estimate of the poor—Grotesqueness of recent awakening in London: a passing excitement—Brief review of the discussion of past few months—Difficulties in the way of any proposed cure of the evil—Results of past efforts to remedy the miseries of the Poor—Miss Octavia Hill's system—Lord Salisbury's, Mr. Chamberlain's and Sir Richard Cross's suggestions considered—Writer's views as to immediate and temporary relief and more lasting remedies.

ENCYCLICAL OF POPE LEO XIII. TO THE BISHOPS OF FRANCE . 438

SCIENCE NOTICES 444

Cometary Collisions—Recent Extraordinary Sunsets—
The Cholera Commission—Arctic Exploration—Three Generations Contrasted.

NOTICES OF CATHOLIC CONTINENTAL PERIODICALS	PAGE 449
Katholik—Historisch-politische Blätter—Stimmen aus Maria Laach—Historisches Jahrbuch der Görres-Gesell- schaft—La Civiltà Cattolica—Revue des Questions Historiques.
NOTICES OF BOOKS	458
Addis & Arnold's Catholic Dictionary—Ornsby's Me- moirs of J. R. Hope-Scott—C. Rouhault de Fleury's La Messe—Allnatt's Cathedra Petri—Father Raymund Palmer's Obituary of Friars Preachers—The Bol- landists for October—Mgr. Balan's Commenta Re- formationis Lutheranæ—Lady Herbert's Life of Ven. Clement M. Hofbauer—Guerin's La Terre Sainte, second vol.—Macwalter's Life of Rosmini—Father Costa-Rosetti's Moral Philosophy—Father Formby's Familiar Introduction to Scriptures—Mrs. R. F. Wil- son's The Christian Brothers—Father B. O'Reilly's True Men as we Need them—Repertorium Oratoris Sacri—Lanage's Text-book of Philosophy—Burke's Historical Portraits of Tudor Dynasty, Vol. IV.—Lives of some Sons of St. Dominic—Translation of Goebel's Parables of Jesus—Dean Burgon's Revision Revised— New English Dictionary on Historical Principles— More Leaves from Her Majesty's Journal—Beet's Com- mentary on Corinthians—Alice Riordan—The Castle of Roussillon—The Knout—Mary Queen of Scots—Ethel- reda—Twitterings at Twilight—Coke's Creed of the Day.
BOOKS OF DEVOTION AND SPIRITUAL READING	491